RELATIONS OF ST. LOUIS TO REST OF STATE TAKEN UP

Meeting There Last Week, Attended by Maryville Secretary, is Expected to be Productive

The relations of St. Louis to the commercial organizations of the rest of the state were threshed out at St. Louis last week at the joint meeting of the board of directors of the Missouri Federation of Commercial Clubs and a committee from the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce. G. A. Pickens, of Maryville, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, is a member of the board of directors and attended the meeting.

St. Louis started to raise 150,000 for state development work, in which the federation is vitally interested, and then reports of friction began to circulate, and the sum so far has reached less than $30,000. To end the reports of friction and to get further information about the money, the meeting was arranged. According to reports in the St. Louis papers, some of which have just been received in Maryville, considerable interest was stirred up and some plain statements were made.

Further developments are expected soon.

What Is Big Business?

BUSINESS, be it big or little, is production and distribution of commodities and service.

The size of a business is measured by the service it renders the public, and regardless of the capital invested, it never can become Big Business unless its output of useful service is great.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is classified with big business, and it deserves to be, for from the day of its organization the goal toward which every effort has been directed has been to render a useful service to the public at large.

Originally the purpose of the Company was to manufacture and sell an illuminating oil of superior quality, but as the years have passed the Company has been able to take a wide range of other useful products from crude petroleum, and has made them available to mankind.

Today the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is big because its job is big, and as the job expands so must this organization if it is to keep pace with the insistent and ever-increasing demands of a discriminating public, and thereby discharge completely its obligation as a public servant.

Charges that the Community Development Company of Chicago, conducting the campaign of the Productions Bureau, operating under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, is antagonistic toward outside commercial organizations and that a continuance of its "selfish and mercenary" aims would sever the business relationship between St. Louis and the remainder of the state were made by I. R. Kelso of Cape Girardeau, president of the federation.

In presenting to a special committee from the Chamber of Commerce a history of the relationship of the commercial clubs with Carl J. Baer, head of the development company, Kelso offered a number of resolutions asking the Chamber of Commerce to define its policy toward the federated clubs and to make known definitely whether it would give financial aid to the organization.

Correspondence and literature showing that Carl J. Baer, who is promoting the Productions Bureau at St. Louis, is the head of a professional community developing company in Chicago, was given out Friday by the federation at the headquarters in the Central National Bank building, according to the St. Louis Republic.

This announcement followed a meeting of the federation at the Hotel Statler Thursday, at which they requested a committee of the Chamber of Commerce to find out whether the chamber will continue to work with and help support the federation. I. R. Kelso, president of the federation, warned the Chamber of Commerce that St. Louis must co-operate with the commercial organizations throughout Missouri and must not adopt the condescending attitude of pouring out wisdom to them.

Another Corn Exhibit Here.

The most recent addition to the exhibit of Nodaway county products in the office of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce is composed of six ears of improved Reid's Yellow Dent corn raised by M. C. Thompson of near Maryville. Mr. Thompson, who is a well known raiser of good seed corn, says these are not exhibition ears, being merely samples of what he has in his fields. They are about twelve inches long, two inches in diameter and well and evenly filled.

THE NEW SILKS FOR AUTUMN

Completeness is the thing the silk display has striven for in bringing its share into this Showing. And it has succeeded, for from one end of the display to the other is a most satisfying collection of the newest colors, novelties, and the best liked of the old favorites in the very popular silk fabrics. There are evening shades in charmeuse and Crepe de chine as well as satin Duchesse in the popular street shades; new browns that are lovely in taffeta, fancy striped taffetas and beautiful foulards.

Black silk of every finish and weight are here in one group, giving impetus to the vogue for their use.

Winter Underwear

Munsingwear successfully stands the test of hard service.
All Munsing fabrics
are knit from yarns
of fine quality. Each fabric is the finest
that can be produced
for the price quoted.
They stand the test of hard service. If washed properly the fabric
improves in appearance until worn out.
The button holes and finish remain in good condition until the garment is finally worn threadbare with long use. No other underwear wears
longer, washes better, fits and covers
the form more perfectly,
or will give more
real comfort and satisfaction than the Mun-singwear.

FASHION'S MOST RECENT MILLI- NERY INTERPRETATIONS FOR AUTUMN.

This is an unusual collection of hat modes. Fabrics and trimming effects are new and authentic. Rich shades of amber and nasturtium appear frequently in this moderately priced display. As each and duality, we believe, an inspection will prove very much worth your while.

CORSETS AND BRASSIERS

No matter how perfectly your corset fits your figure, if it is not supplemented while the brassieres are most all of the bandeau type.

Key-Hosher Wedding.

Miss Neva Key became the bride of Charles Franklin Hosher in a simple home ceremony last evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Key, 602 West Halsey street. The single ring service was read by the Rev. R. E. Snodgrass of the Christian Church in the living room, the couple standing against a background of ferns and potted plants. The bride couple entered to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" played by Mrs. Fay Corrough. Little Grace Witt of St. Joseph, a cousin of the bride, carried the ring in a white chrysanthemum. The bride wore her traveling suit of brown broadcloth, with hat and shoes to correspond, and her flowers were a bouquet of yellow roses. Following the ceremony a two-course supper was served in which a yellow and white color scheme prevailed. The guests were limited to members of the families and a few intimate friends. Mr. Hosher and his bride left

THE STORY OF A MAN WHO OPPOSED FATE

Harry T. Morey Has Great Opportunity in Feature

Remember those stories in which you were never sure which was the hero and which the villain? Liked them, didn't you? You did not lay aside the book until you had finished the story. Well, Cyrus Townsend Brady has written another of the same kind in which Vitagraph features Harry T. Morey, entitled "The Man Who Won." This picture will be shown at the Electric theatre today and tomorrow.

The story deals with an American who has faced death and hardships in the fight to obtain a precious metal. He wins and fortune smiles upon him for one brief instant. Fate plunges him into the midst of trying and mysterious circumstances. He is robbed of his memory and surrounded by powerful enemies who would deprive him of his treasure.

Does your stomach feel bloated after eating? Do you have sour risings, heartburn, spells of dizziness and constipated bowels? If so, Prickly Ash Bitters is the medicine for you. Men who use it find it exactly suited for such disorders. Price $1.25 per bottle. Maryville Drug Co., special agents. (Adv)
